I am currently Managing Director of Growforth Limited (est 1990) a wholesale nursery servicing the horticultural trade throughout Scotland. More recently the business has embraced limited retailing through its Pant Market. I am a past President of the Horticultural Trades Association's (2013-2015) and recipient of the Royal Caledonian Horticultural Society's Silver Medal for services to Scottish Horticulture. I am still actively involved in lobbying on behalf of horticulture making representations to Government in Scotland and the UK.

I started my horticultural career when I worked behind the scenes at BBC Scotland's "Beechgrove Garden". I continue to have good links with Gardening media. My wife Gail also worked with the BBC team at The Beechgrove Garden (as assistant gardener).

I am also pleased to have initiated and continue to help lead the project to attempt to create Scotland's National Garden (The Calyx) with my friend and colleague Jim McColl CBE and Sir Andrew Cubie.

I have been involved in charitable fundraising for the Children's Hospice Association for Scotland & the Samaritans. I was heavily involved in the local Children's Gala (as Chairman) for many years, and also organised the Largo and Lundin Links Community Millennium celebrations.

I have a wife Gail and two adult children. Gail (nee Horne) was born and brought up in Largo and has been very involved in many local organisations including Largo Area Community Council (minute secretary since mid-1990's) and Largo Parish Church as well as working as a classroom assistant at Lundin Mill Primary School.

I have lived in Main St Lower Largo since 1990... and love it.
